

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS!
The Stanford M. Lyman Distinguished Book Award
Mid-South Sociological Association

It is with great pleasure that we open nominations for the 2007 Stanford M. Lyman Distinguished Book Award. This award was established in memory of Stan Lyman in order to honor MSSA members whose recently published work makes a significant contribution to the field of sociology. Please consider nominating one of your colleagues for this prestigious award. Keep in mind the following:

- The book must be an original work (and can be either sole authored or co-authored)
- The work must have been published within the last three years (thus a book published between 2004 and 2007 is eligible)
- Textbooks and edited editions are not eligible
- The author must be a current member in the Association, and must have been a member for at least three years.

Nominations should be sent (ideally via email) to Dr. Amy Chasteen Miller (achasteenmiller@gmail.com). Nominations may also be faxed (601/266-6373). Be sure to contain the following in your nomination:

- The complete citation for the book (author/s, date published, title, publisher)
- Contact information for the author/s (email, affiliation, phone number if possible).
- Contact information the publisher if possible (contact person, phone number, and ISBN)
- A brief description of the book and why you believe it should be nominated for the award.

The deadline for nominations is June 1, 2007.
